LOOSE TALK

WHAT THE STARS SAID THIS WEEK

"The categories at the moment feel extremely gendered… I don't want the limitations in terms of the language in the categories to be a reason that nonbinary actors like me can't be celebrated."

Calling for "more space" for nonbinary actors at awards shows

BELLA RAMSEY

"Damn, when was this? 1901?"

Reacting to podcast guest John Stamos reminiscing about going to Disneyland when admission was only $5

KEKE PALMER

"Before the naughty times come."

Revealing the point at which she used to make her dates sign an NDA

RAVEN-SYMONÉ

"You know how they say you can outgrow certain things? I've never outgrown my deep love of and appreciation for macaroni and cheese. If anything, it might have grown more with each year."

On her fondness for the comfort food

DREW BARRYMORE

"I am having fun with it. It seems a little role-related… I'm not a daddy and I'm not gonna be a daddy!"

On the phenomenon of fans calling him the moniker on social media

A DAY IN MY LIFE

Jaren Lewison shares his daily routine with Us!

TUNE IN!

Season 4 of Never Have I Ever drops June 8 on Netflix.

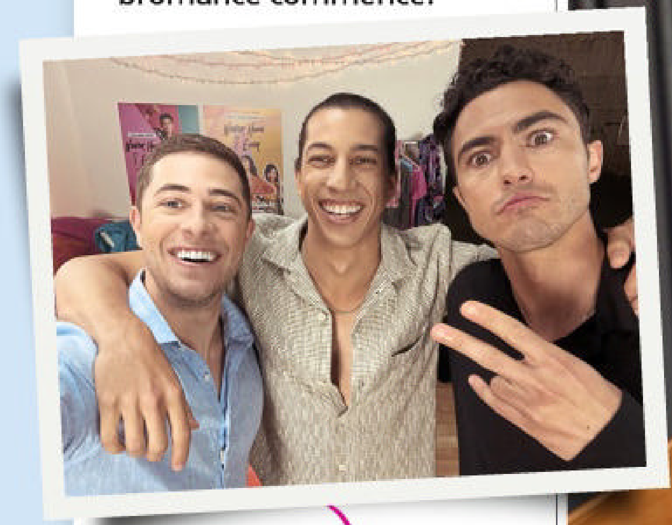
10:00 A.M.

POWER TRIO Lewison kicks off his morning by promoting Never Have I Ever alongside costars Darren Barnet and Benjamin Norris. "Energy is high," the actor, 22, tells Us, "and I'm ready to attack the day with these goofballs — let the bromance commence!"



12:00 P.M.

BABE MONITOR With interviews underway, Lewison gets (and stays!) camera-ready — from all angles. "Press is in full swing," he explains. "Shout-out to the production team and my team for making me look good in multiple ways."

2:00 P.M.

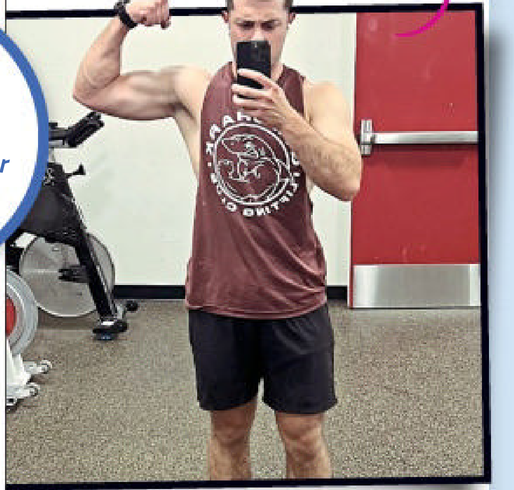
SIR MIX-A-LOT The Dallas native thinks ahead when it comes to snacks: "I have a huge sweet tooth, so I'm baking eggless chocolate-chip cookie dough to throw into some McConnell's ice cream later."

4:00 P.M.

MAKING A RACQUET Next, Lewison hits up a nearby court. "Time to rally the boys and get some big forehands in," the Away and Back star — a proud tennis enthusiast — shares. "Let's get some energy out!"

6:00 P.M.

MUSCLE & FLOW Gym therapy! "One of my favorite parts of the week: chest and arms day," says Lewison, who likes to "relax and sink into the iron paradise of the weights."



9:00 P.M.

BOYS' NIGHT OUT "I love supporting my best friends more than anything, so [off] to Dan Belkind's art show I go!" says Lewison. "I can't hide how proud I am of Dan and his amazing piece."

HOLLYWOOD DADS

Double Trouble

As a dad of twins, Bryan Greenberg has some words of wisdom for parents with their own pair: "Don't take advice from anybody who doesn't have twins," the actor, 45 — who shares his 19-month-old sons with wife Jamie Chung — joked to Us while promoting their Shipt partnership. "And get two of everything." Here, Greenberg dishes on fatherhood.

MULLIN

EWING

Q: What's your biggest parenting challenge these days?

They're actively trying to die at every moment, and everything could kill them. That used to be a chair, and now it's a death trap. As soon as you wake up, it's game on, so it's [about] really being attentive and just making sure they're alive.

Q: Are your sons starting to fight?

It's World War III [if] they don't have the same color fork. It's funny to witness human nature, like, I want what the other person has.

Q: Any plans for Father's Day?

I never really appreciated Father's Day until I was a father, and I realized I deserve to be celebrated because this is hard work. I want to be spoiled, so I'm putting all the items I want in the cart so there's no miscommunication. I earned it, so I don't feel bad about it. Hook it up.

"They're totally different," Greenberg says of his boys.

By Leanne Aciz Stanton / With reporting by Christina Garibaldi & Stephanie Webber

GROWING PAINS

Being a girl dad isn't easy — just ask Ludacris, who's proud papa to Karma, 21, Cai, 9, Cadence, 8, and 22-month-old Chance. (The rapper, 45, shares his two youngest with wife Eudoxie, while Karma and Cai are from previous relationships.) "The hardest thing is thinking about the future when they start dating," the Fast X star told Us while discussing his Rice Krispies Treats partnership, noting his eldest — who served as the inspiration behind his Netflix series, Karma's World — had to wait until she turned 18. "She hasn't introduced me to a boy yet," he notes, "so either she's really good at hiding it, or she's taking her time trying to find the right person to bring home." Ludacris admits it's tough carving out time for each daughter, especially with his busy career. ("Sometimes I have to bring them to me, whether I'm doing a show or movie — that's extremely important.") But there's a major perk to his big brood: "It's the greatest feeling in the world knowing that they're gonna take care of me when I get older."

"When they see me on screen, they hug me even tighter," the actor says of his daughters, here with him at his Hollywood Walk of Fame ceremony. "I love it."

The Good Life

Chris Kirkpatrick struggles with spoiling son Nash, 5. (Mom is wife Karly.) "I grew up very poor, and my kid doesn't have to work for anything," the 'NSync singer, 51, tells Us. "He has, like, eight toy rooms in our house." But Kirkpatrick adds that he's making sure Nash appreciates what he has: "[I try to] let him know all of the stuff you're getting is because we love you — because if he acts like he deserves, it stops."

Family Matters

Mauricio Umansky admits there's a "true competition" between daughters Alexia, 26, Sophia, 23, and Portia, 15, and stepdaughter Farrah, 34. (Mom is wife Kyle Richards.) "It's somewhat friendly, but it's real," the Dealmaker author, 52, tells Us. Fortunately, the older girls — who work at Umansky's real estate firm, The Agency — abide by his one rule: "We don't bring business home."

Love Lives

Pride EDITION

"She is the most beautiful soul I have ever met in my life," Nash has said of Betts.

JESSICA & NIECY

Better Together

This summer, Niecy Nash and wife Jessica Betts will celebrate their third wedding anniversary. According to the Claws alum, the secret to their marriage is straightforward. "Jess and I are supportive of each other and respect each other," Nash, 53 — who married the singer-songwriter, 41, in August 2020 — tells Us, adding that she believes it's what makes them "such a great team" and keeps their relationship strong. "I am more in love with Jess every passing day."

By Isley Zegas / With reporting by Travis Cronin, Rick Egusquiza & Christina Garibaldi

KRISTEN & DYLAN

Change of Plans

➺ Wedding bells will soon be ringing for Kristen Stewart and Dylan Meyer. "It'll probably happen this year," an insider tells Us, explaining that the actress, 33, and the 35-year-old screenwriter's nuptials keep getting pushed back. "They had planned a ceremony in L.A., but rethought it. Then they planned a destination wedding, but things came up and it was put on hold." No matter where they end up getting married, "it'll be on their terms," promises the insider, "and it'll be perfect."

JESSE & JUSTIN

A Modern Family

➺ Life has been sweet for Jesse Tyler Ferguson and hubby Justin Mikita since welcoming baby No. 2 this past fall. "I think it has made our relationship a lot stronger," Ferguson, 47, tells Us, noting that he and Mikita, 37, make sure to carve out time for each other. "We're pretty good about… date nights, whether [it's] cooking at home or [going] out somewhere," he adds. "Usually Justin's the one planning — he's better at that!"

Funny Business

Fortune Feimster's career is hotter than ever, but the Fubar star, 42, enjoys her low-key life out of the spotlight with wife Jacquelyn Smith. "They love cuddling up on the couch and binging their favorite true-crime shows," an insider tells Us. "Fortune is always counting her blessings, with Jax being at the top of her list."

"Natalie wants to try and save the marriage but it's going to take a lot of time and therapy," says a source.

NATALIE & BENJAMIN

Picking Up the Pieces

The Oscar winner is putting on a brave face in light of cheating accusations against her husband

Portman and Millepied shared a sweet kiss on May 29, four days before news of his alleged affair broke. "There have been a lot of tears," says a source.

Natalie Portman was all smiles while attending a soccer game in France on June 3. The happy outing was unexpected — just one day earlier reports surfaced that the May December star's husband of 10 years, Benjamin Millepied, had allegedly been unfaithful with a 25-year-old woman. According to a source, Portman, 42, who shares Aleph, 11, and Amalia, 6, with the 45-year-old French choreographer, feels "humiliated" but is standing by her man — for now. "Natalie believes Benjamin's affair was a brief and stupid liaison that means nothing to him," the source tells Us. "The last thing she wants is for her kids to grow up in a broken home, so she's willing to see if she's capable of rebuilding her trust in Benjamin over time." But a second source warns the pair have a long road ahead of them. "Natalie doesn't know if she can trust him again," explains the source, adding that Millepied "regrets" what he did immensely. "Right now, they are talking and working on it together for the sake of their children."

TOM BRADY

Parenting Pro

He may be an NFL legend, but Tom Brady doesn't mind if his kids don't follow in his football footsteps. "As a parent, it's not about saying, 'These are the things I'm interested in that you should be interested in, too,'" the former QB — who shares Jack, 15, with ex Bridget Moynahan and Ben, 13, and Vivian, 10, with former wife Gisele Bündchen — told Us while promoting his new campaign with Hertz. "You want to expose them to different things so they can find a path that they really love." When it comes to hobbies, Brady, 45, admits his children have taught him far more than he's taught them. "My son loves music and performing and my daughter loves riding horses. I'm learning right along with them," he adds. "I try to grow with them."

"I want to give them perspective on what other parts of the world look like," Brady tells Us of his three kids.

"Timothée has a great sense of humor and makes Kylie smile," says an insider.

Going Strong!

» The unlikely romance between Kylie Jenner and Timothée Chalamet is showing no signs of slowing down."Kylie and Timothée have been seeing each other as much as they can," an insider tells Us, adding that the beauty mogul, 25, and the Dune actor, 27, are "making the most" of their time together before Chalamet heads to NYC to film the upcoming Bob Dylan biopic. "Some of Kylie's family members have met Timothée, including her mom, Kris, and sister Kendall," the insider continues. "They really like him and love seeing how happy Kylie is."

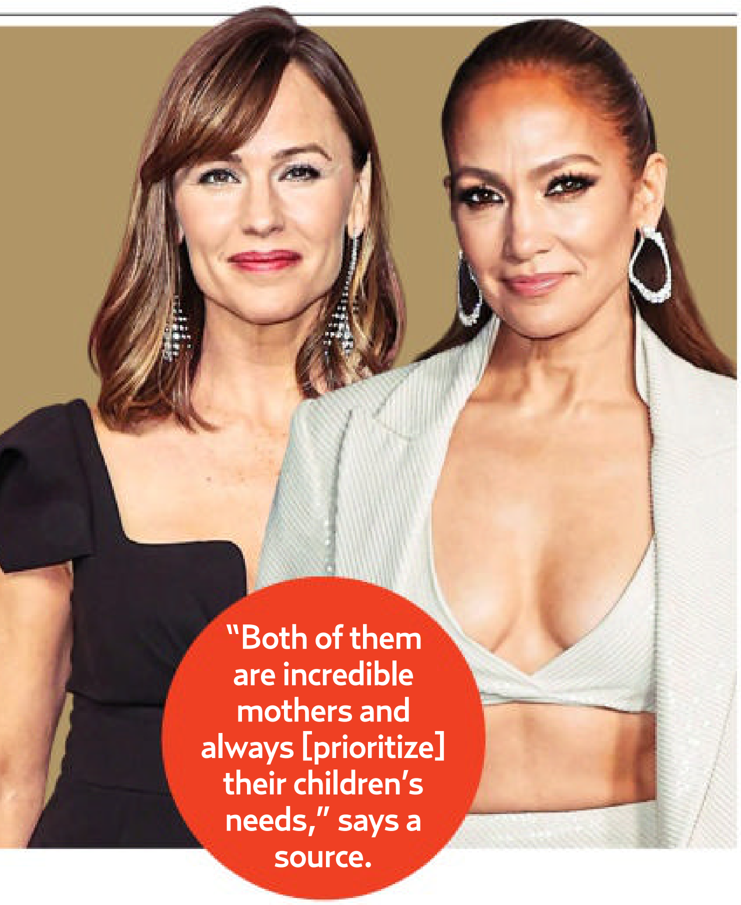
HAILEE & JOSH

Game On!

Hailee Steinfeld and Buffalo Bills QB Josh Allen painted the town red over Memorial Day weekend as they enjoyed multiple outings in NYC, including a dinner date at Sushi By Bou (see inset). According to sources, things are heating up between the two. "Hailee and Josh have been together for about a month and it's going really great," an insider tells Us, adding that the Hawkeye actress, 26, and the athlete, 27, "laugh a ton when they're together [and] are always smiling." With Allen fresh out of a more than five-year romance with ex Brittany Williams, "Hailee's not putting any pressure or unrealistic expectations on things," notes a source. "But Josh is the first guy in a while she's been really interested in — and she's excited about this."

Family First

» The powers of the Jens! Ben Affleck's ex, Jen Garner, 51, and his current wife, Jennifer Lopez, 53, are making serious strides in the coparenting department. On May 28, Garner was spotted at Disneyland with her daughter Seraphina, 14, and Lopez's child Emme, 15. "Jen respects that Jennifer treats her kids like her own and she has every intention of doing the same," one source tells Us, noting that Garner and Lopez "have gotten to know each other much better" and have grown close. "They text about the kids' schedules," adds a second source. "They're taking the lead with blending both families."



"Both of them are incredible mothers and always [prioritize] their children's needs," says a source.

KIM KARDASHIAN

Dating On the DL?

Back on the prowl! Kim Kardashian is looking for love again, and according to a source, she has her eye on someone special. "There's somebody she's interested in and she's excited about where things might go," the source tells Us of the reality star, 42, who split from Pete Davidson in August and finalized her divorce from ex-husband Kanye West in November. While Kardashian has yet to go out on a proper date with the mystery man, the source spills that "there has been subtle flirtation between them." In a promo for the June 8 episode of The Kardashians, the Skims founder seemingly hints at a new romance with a guy she nicknamed "Fred," but a second source insists Kardashian is keeping her love life under wraps from the public — and from West, 46. "Kim doesn't feel it's Kanye's business," says the second source. "If she ends up introducing someone to their kids, she'd let Kanye know out of respect. Until then, she's keeping things private."

The icon and mother of all drag queens chats with Us about Pride Month and keeping it real

BY JAIME HARKIN

FORCE OF

NATURE

It's been 30 years since RuPaul Andre Charles sashayed onto the Hollywood scene. Since then, he's blazed trails for the LGBTQ+ community and brought the art of drag to the mainstream with his long-running hit series, RuPaul's Drag Race. The show — winner of an impressive 27 Emmy Awards — has spawned more than 10 spinoffs, including the super-successful RuPaul's Drag Race All-Stars, which is currently in its eighth season. Famous for his wit and warmth, RuPaul has made a career of staying true to himself. "I've always been confident," the 62-year-old tells Us. "I had no other choice." The star — who wed longtime partner Georges LeBar in 2017 — is determined to help his legions of fans practice that same self-love. "There are always going to be people that don't like what you do," he says, "but if they ain't paying your bills, pay them no mind."

ALBERT SANCHEZ/PARAMOUNT+; (INSET) WORLD OF WONDER/PARAMOUNT+

When you first began your career, did you imagine you'd be where you are today?

RuPaul: I did! I always saw myself as a star and I always imagined myself having my own show.

How have you managed to tune out the critics and the haters?

RuPaul: Whenever I go on stage I say to myself, "Ru, you're going into Mama's living room." I used to perform for my mom and that's what helps me overcome nerves about anything, including what people may have said about me. What other people say about me is none of my business!

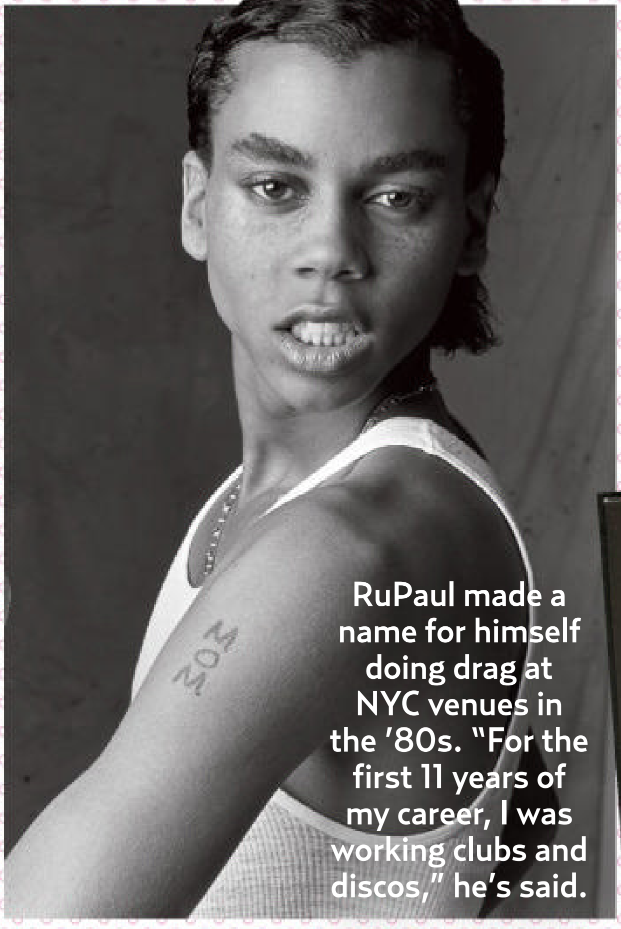
What advice would you give your younger self?

RuPaul: Life is tough, there's no way around that, but you can arm yourself with knowledge. And to hell with what anyone thinks — you have to do

"Just be yourself," says the beloved RuPaul's Drag Race host. "Everyone else is already taken."

With reporting by Travis Cronin

ROAD TO SUPERSTARDOM



RuPaul made a name for himself doing drag at NYC venues in the '80s. "For the first 11 years of my career, I was working clubs and discos," he's said.

The star has admitted that his hit 1993 single "Supermodel (You Better Work)" was a game changer: "I didn't have to go-go dance for money anymore."

"Everything I know, I learned from television," shared the performer, who hosted VH1's The RuPaul Show from 1996 to 1998. "I learned how to emcee from watching Cher and Diana Ross specials."

things because you want to and not rely on anyone else for validation.

RuPaul's Drag Race debuted in 2009 and has gone to air for 15 seasons. Did you have any idea it would turn into such a phenomenon?

RuPaul: I had no idea! But I'm so happy it did.

What's been the most rewarding part of doing the show?

RuPaul: I love seeing the queens grow, and now that we have more seasons of All-Stars, I really get to see the evolution.

Who's been your favorite celebrity judge?

RuPaul: La Toya Jackson.

If you had to Lip Sync for Your Life, what song would you choose?

RuPaul: Probably something by Diana Ross.

You've been close with Michelle Visage since the '80s. What's it been like working with her all these years?

RuPaul: Michelle is just awful. I'm joking, of course! She is my best Judy and I love having her on the show. It makes it feel even more like home.

When did you first realize that you were part of the LGBTQ+ community?

RuPaul: I always knew deep down, but when I started doing drag, it really allowed me to start creating my chosen family, many of whom I'm still friends with today. My first Pride parade was in 1982 in Atlanta.

"He's my favorite person on the planet," RuPaul has said of his Australian author husband, Georges LeBar.

Wow. When did you come out?

RuPaul: Coming out isn't something you do just once. It's something queer people have to do on a daily basis.

Any advice for people who may be nervous to come out?

RuPaul: Choose someone in your life you trust and open up to them. Start off small and build your way up.

When did you first start experimenting with drag?

RuPaul: I used to be a go-go dancer in the early '90s and started performing drag shows at the Pyramid Club in New York. It was a place where all the weirdos could get

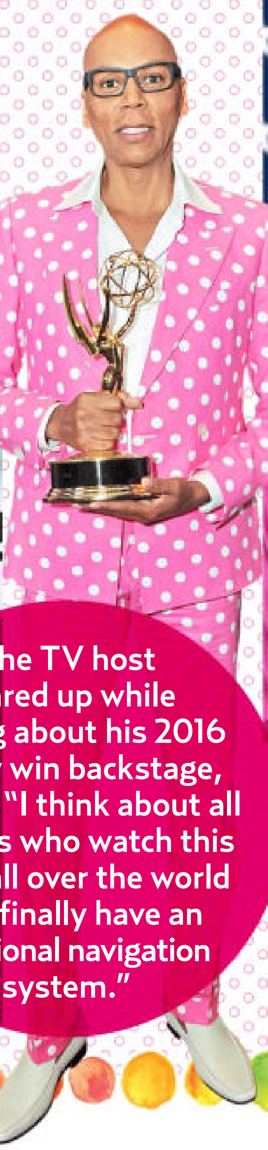
RuPaul worked alongside Natasha Lyonne in the 1999 cult classic But I'm a Cheerleader. "He's such a true original," Lyonne gushed. "One of the most major human beings of all time."

Since its 2009 debut, RuPaul's Drag Race has won 27 Emmy Awards and two GLAAD Awards. "I'm most proud of this show being a launch pad for brilliant artists," he's said.



The TV host teared up while talking about his 2016 Emmy win backstage, saying, "I think about all the kids who watch this show all over the world who finally have an emotional navigation system."

Using his platform for good! In March, the activist urged followers to check out the ACLU Drag Defense Fund, which supports the ACLU's LGBTQ+ rights initiatives.

together and be inspired. I'd sleep at Chelsea Piers because I didn't have a stable home and stored all my belongings in the basement at the Pyramid.

What wisdom can you share with people struggling to live as their authentic selves?

RuPaul: If you can't love yourself, how in the hell are you going to love somebody else? Can I get an amen up in here?

June is Pride Month. What does Pride mean to you?

RuPaul: Pride is a protest. I think it's important to remember that it started out that way. I recommend donating to the Drag Defense Fund and to get involved in local politics.

How has drag changed your life?

RuPaul: Drag has evolved a lot in the last 10 to 20 years. Before, queens would learn everything they knew from their Drag Mother, the person who would show them how to do their makeup and how to pad. Now kids can go on YouTube to learn. Drag is much more accessible, which is a beautiful thing. Remember, we're all born naked — and the rest is drag. US

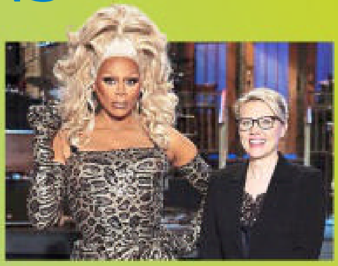
DRAG RACE STANS

ANNE HATHAWAY

The actress cried when Stephen Colbert surprised her with a visit from RuPaul on The Late Show with Stephen Colbert in 2019. "I take [Drag Race] very seriously," she explained.

NICKI MINAJ

A longtime Drag Race buff, Minaj made her debut as a judge on the season 12 premiere. "She understands the artistry," RuPaul said of the rapper's guest stint, "and the work that goes into it."



KATE McKINNON

"Drag Race is my whole life," the SNL alum has said. "I don't know why it's become such an important touchstone in my life and my entire heart."

ANDREW GARFIELD

The 2019 guest judge has raved about the competition series. "The creativity is always totally outside of the box," he's said, "and it's one of the many reasons I watch and love this show."

LAVERNE COX

Cox revealed her obsession in 2017, when she publicly rooted for her friend Peppermint to take home the top prize in season 9. "I love you Peppermint, I love you Drag Race," she gushed.

LIZZO

The "Cuz I Love You" singer (and two-time Drag Race judge) is such a fan, she invited some alums from the show to join her on stage at a Knoxville, Tenn., concert in April.

BACK to BUSINESS

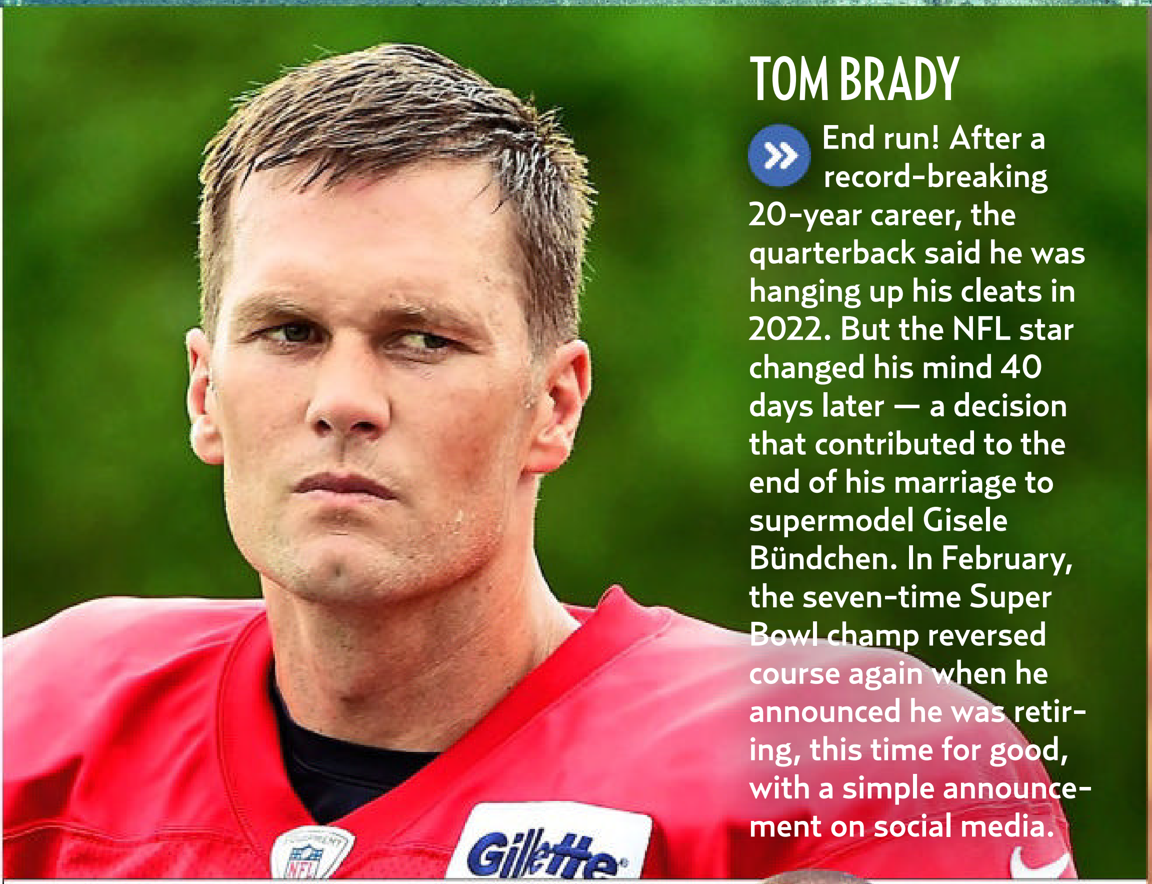
Never mind! After announcing their retirement, these stars had a change of heart



TOM BRADY

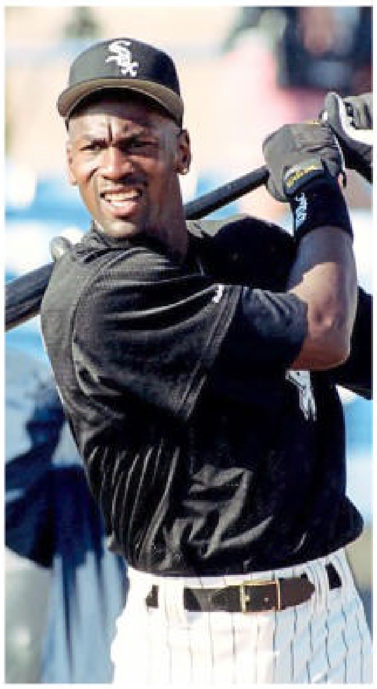
End run! After a record-breaking 20-year career, the quarterback said he was hanging up his cleats in 2022. But the NFL star changed his mind 40 days later — a decision that contributed to the end of his marriage to supermodel Gisele Bündchen. In February, the seven-time Super Bowl champ reversed course again when he announced he was retiring, this time for good, with a simple announcement on social media.

JAY-Z

Calling it "the worst retirement in history," the rapper threw himself a star-studded farewell party at Madison Square Garden after the release of 2003's The Black Album, only to reboot his career in 2006. "If I wake up one day and the best material has passed me by, it's time to move on," explained Jay, who went on to make 2018's Everything Is Love with wife Beyoncé and has cut songs with Kanye West and Drake. "I've said what I wanted to say."

CAMERON DIAZ

The Charlie's Angels actress put her career on hold in 2018 — a year before welcoming daughter Raddix with her rocker hubby Benji Madden — saying she wanted to enjoy life out of the spotlight. However, Diaz, who launched an organic wine label during her time off, is making a comeback in the upcoming comedy movie appropriately titled Back in Action opposite Jamie Foxx. "It's a little bit of muscle memory," she said of her return. "I kind of just fell back into it."



MICHAEL JORDAN

Talk about bouncing back and forth: After leading the Chicago Bulls to three consecutive championships, he quit basketball in 1993 — to play minor-league baseball! — went back to the NBA and retired again, then returned one last time before retiring permanently in 2003. Thanks to his iconic Jordan Brand and other lucrative business deals, the star has a reported net worth of $2 billion, making him the richest athlete in sports history.

EVANGELINE LILLY

The Lost alum disappeared from Hollywood after the show ended in 2010 for "a life of quiet motherhood and writing," only to resurface as a wood elf in the Hobbit trilogy and a superhero in 2015's Ant-Man. The actress, who revealed she's actually sworn off acting multiple times, has learned never to say never: "It would be comical at this point," she admitted earlier this year. "I've said that thrice and have not followed through."

MIKE FISHER

With 17 seasons under his belt, the hockey pro — who's been married to Carrie Underwood for over a decade — wrote a heartfelt goodbye letter to fans in 2017, saying he wanted to spend more time with his wife and their young sons. He didn't last six months before rejoining the Nashville Predators but left the ice less than four months later. These days, Fisher is focused on his clothing line, Catchin' Deers.

DAVID LETTERMAN

After signing off on his talk show in 2015, the late-night funnyman laid low for three years before resuming his hosting duties on Netflix's My Guest Needs No Introduction. He's pulling in a whopping $2 million per episode, but Letterman — who shares son Harry, 19, with wife Regina Lasko — didn't return for the money. "If you retire to spend more time with your family," he wisecracked, "check with your family first."

BARBRA STREISAND

The legendary songstress gave four farewell concerts in 2000 to mark her retirement from performing live so she could concentrate on acting, directing and studio recording. Though she says it still gives her "the willies," Streisand returned to the stage in 2016 for her The Music... The Mem'ries... The Magic! Tour. Her memoir, My Name Is Barbra, is set to come out in November.

What's cookin'? Miranda Lambert shares one of her go-to supper recipes with Us

These scalloped potatoes have been on Miranda Lambert's dinner rotation for as long as she can remember. "We got the recipe from our friend Samantha at a horse show, where they were the hit of the meal… [and] my family's been making them [ever] since," the country superstar tells Us of the homey staple, featured in her debut cookbook, Y'all Eat Yet? "Since the cookbook centers around gatherings, comfort foods and things you can throw together quickly, this dish fits into all those categories perfectly," she explains. "It's so simple, and the ingredients are things that most people would have on hand or could pick up at any grocery store — and everyone loves them."

"If you want to add a kick to your meal, add chopped jalapeños," suggests Lambert.

Scalloped Potatoes

SERVES 4–6

INGREDIENTS

- 1 tsp kosher salt, plus more for boiling
- 3 lbs new potatoes, cut into 1-inch cubes
- 4 tbsp (½ stick) unsalted butter, cut into cubes
- 8 oz Velveeta, cubed
- 1 cup shredded cheddar cheese
- ½ tsp freshly ground black pepper
- ½ cup sour cream
- ¼ cup whole milk
- Parsley or 3 green onions, sliced

INSTRUCTIONS

❶ Preheat the oven to 350 degrees.

❷ Place the potatoes in a pot of cold salted water. Bring to a boil and cook until almost soft, 10 to 12 minutes.

❸ Place the butter evenly across the bottom of a 9 x 13-inch casserole dish. Layer with half of the potatoes, half of the Velveeta and half of the cheddar. Season with ½ tsp of salt and ¼ tsp of pepper. Dot with sour cream, then repeat layering with remaining potatoes, ½ tsp salt, ¼ tsp pepper, Velveeta and cheddar. Pour the milk over the entire casserole. Top with parsley or green onions. Bake, uncovered, until bubbly, about 30 minutes. Serve right out of the oven.

Watch out: Us rounds up the hottest shows dropping this summer

BY LEANNE ACIZ STANTON

FX'S THE BEAR
Yes, chef! Season 2 of the hit dramedy follows Carmy (Jeremy Allen White) as he attempts to convert his family's no-frills sandwich eatery in Chicago into an upscale establishment. He soon learns, however, that starting from scratch will not only challenge him, but also his loyal staff, when things start to boil over in the kitchen. (June 22 on Hulu)

AND JUST LIKE THAT...
The next chapter of the Sex and the City reboot features Aidan (John Corbett) making his big return in season 2 — just in time for Carrie (Sarah Jessica Parker) to get her groove back. (Kim Cattrall will reprise her role as Samantha in a quick cameo, too!) Meanwhile, Miranda (Cynthia Nixon) kicks her romance up a notch and Charlotte (Kristin Davis) grapples with raising a rebellious teen. Luckily, the trio of friends have each other through it all. (June 22 on Max)

FX'S RESERVATION DOGS

The pack is back: The beloved comedy's third season features Elora (Devery Jacobs), Bear (D'Pharaoh Woon-A-Tai), Willie Jack (Paulina Alexis) and Cheese (Lane Factor) leaving California — and their big city dreams — behind to return to good ole Oklahoma. (Aug. 2 on Hulu)

ONLY MURDERS IN THE BUILDING

In season 3, Mabel (Selena Gomez), Oliver (Martin Short) and Charles (Steve Martin) take a deep dive into the mysterious death of Ben (Paul Rudd). Meryl Streep will also guest star. (Aug. 8 on Hulu)

THE SUMMER I TURNED PRETTY

The drama's second season, based on Jenny Han's It's Not Summer Without You, follows Belly (Lola Tung) as she returns to Cousins Beach. But this summer threatens to be a cruel one: Not only is Susannah (Rachel Blanchard) battling cancer, but Belly finds herself grappling with her love for both Conrad (Christopher Briney) and Jeremiah (Gavin Casalegno). (July 14 on Prime Video)

When a plane is taken over during a seven-hour flight, Elba's Sam, a professional negotiator, risks it all to keep himself — and his fellow passengers — alive. (June 28 on Apple TV+)

FULL CIRCLE

Zazie Beetz's Harmony leads an investigation into the kidnapping of Sam's (Claire Danes) son, only to discover his disappearance is linked to a sinister scheme going on in NYC. Timothy Olyphant, Jim Gaffigan, Jharrel Jerome and Dennis Quaid also star in the limited series. (July 13 on Max)

I'M A VIRGO

Jharrel Jerome stars in Boots Riley's heartwarming coming-of-age drama as a 13-foot-tall young man named Cootie. After being hidden away for most of his life, Cootie decides to break free and see what he's been missing — what he finds is friendship, adventure and the opportunity to be himself. (June 23 on Prime Video)

PAINKILLER

Matthew Broderick, Uzo Aduba, Taylor Kitsch, Dina Shihabi, John Rothman and West Duchovny take on the looming opiate crisis in this scripted show, based on Barry Meier's 2018 book Pain Killer and Patrick Radden Keefe's 2017 New Yorker article The Family That Built an Empire of Pain. (Aug. 10 on Netflix)

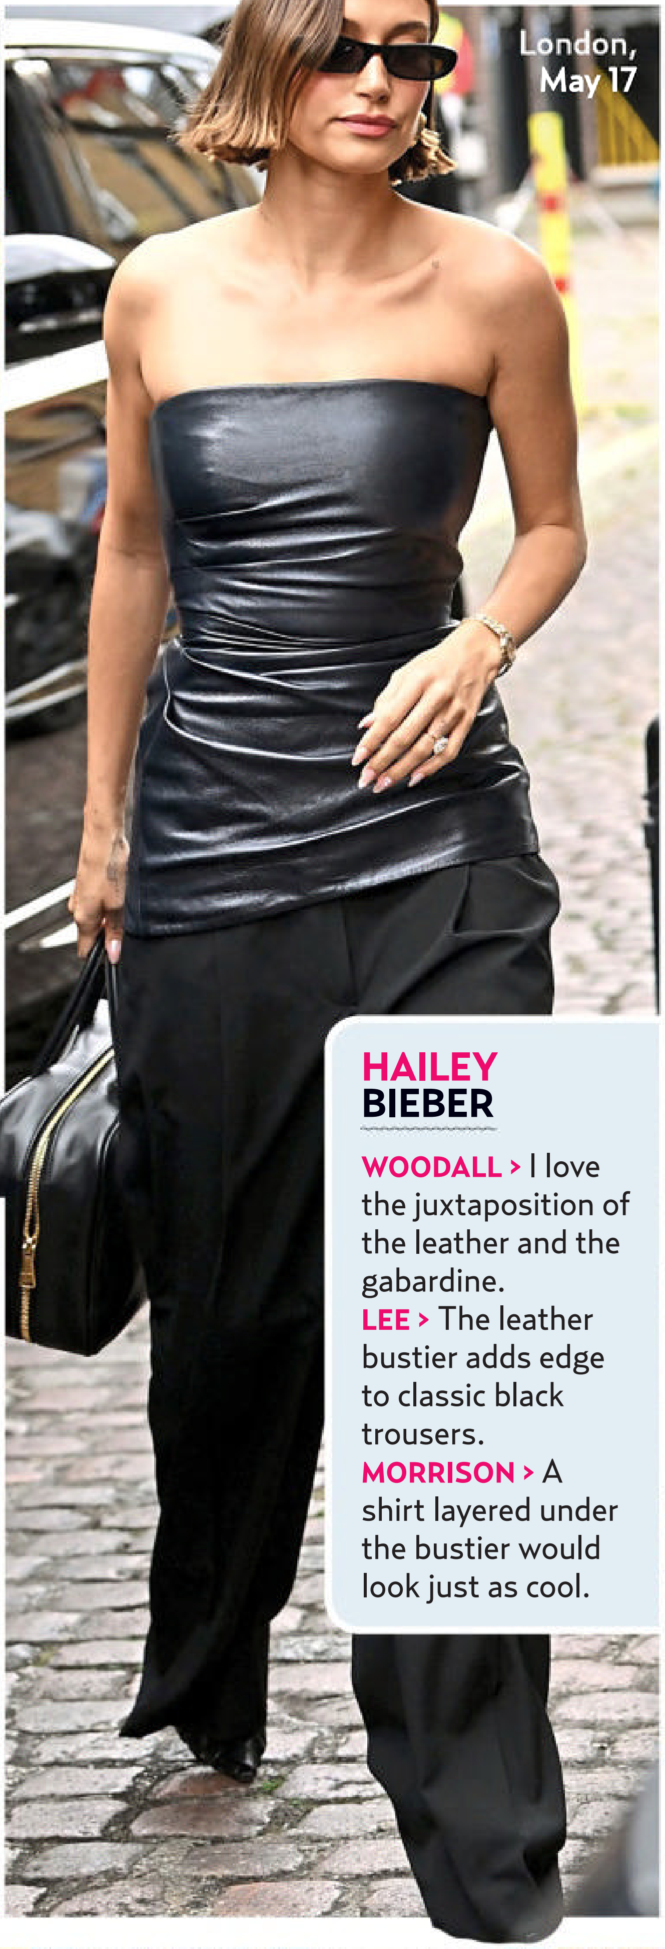
TRACEE ELLIS ROSS

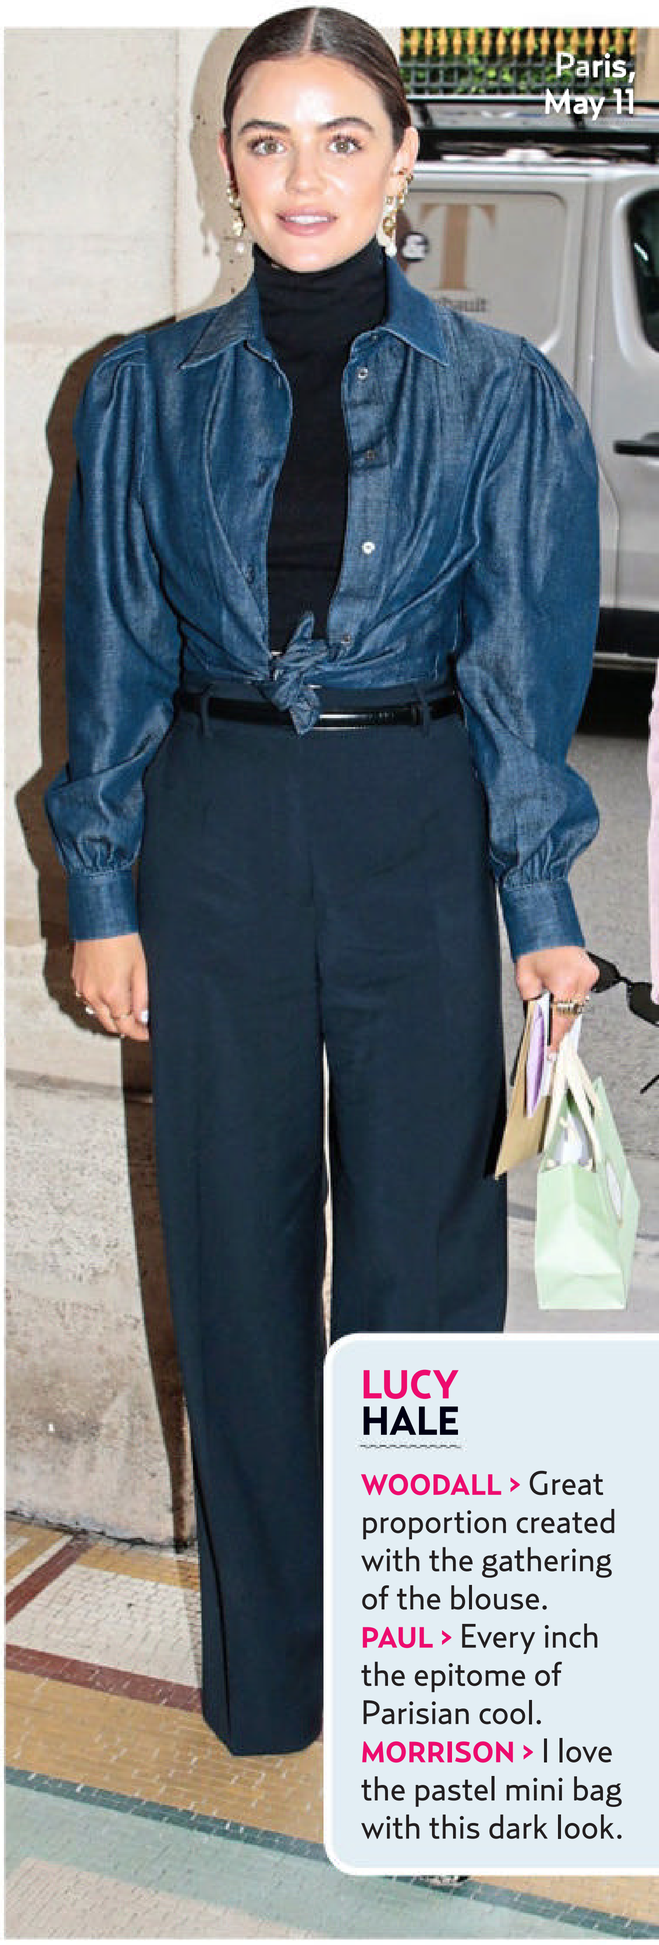
MILLER > The leather and leopard combo is stunning.
LEE > The candy-colored accessories pop.
PAUL > She's the queen of the bold-statement look.



London, May 17

HAILEY BIEBER

WOODALL > I love the juxtaposition of the leather and the gabardine.
LEE > The leather bustier adds edge to classic black trousers.
MORRISON > A shirt layered under the bustier would look just as cool.



Paris, May 11

LUCY HALE

WOODALL > Great proportion created with the gathering of the blouse.
PAUL > Every inch the epitome of Parisian cool.
MORRISON > I love the pastel mini bag with this dark look.

25 THINGS YOU DON'T KNOW ABOUT ME

BY Gigi Gorgeous

The YouTube star and LGBTQ+ activist shares some fun personal facts with Us

The T Guide is available now.

1. I'm in my fitness era, so my favorite meal to cook is grilled chicken with an assortment of vegetables.

2. I can do a backflip on land. I used to be a competitive diver and was on my way to the Olympics growing up in Toronto.
3. After a long day, I like to spend time with my husband, Nats [Getty], and our kitties in a cozy robe with a fun cocktail — preferably with tequila in it.
4. The most famous person in my phone book is Miley Cyrus.
5. Meeting Lady Gaga when I was a presenter at the Billboard Music Awards was easily my most starstruck moment.
6. My favorite book is The T Guide, which I cowrote with my BFF, Gottmik. It's framed as a conversation and shines light on stories from our respective transitions and unique journeys.

7. I'm going to Portugal later this month! I can't wait for the picturesque settings, delicious food and epic photo moments.

8. During Pride month, [you'll] find me [jetting] off to the hottest spots. Some years I'm the Grand Marshal, and others I'm hosting Pride activations.
9. Right now, my favorite item in my wardrobe is my Hermès Birkin Handbag Capucine Togo with Palladium hardware in orange. I take it everywhere!
10. Sleep is my No. 1 beauty tip.

11. My favorite movie is the new The Little Mermaid.

12. My alternate profession would be a celebrity hairstylist.
13. Céline Dion's "It's All Coming Back to Me Now" brings back the best memories, especially since it was one of my mom's favorite songs.
14. My go-to karaoke song is The Pussycat Dolls' "Buttons."
15. Vanderpump Rules is my guilty-pleasure TV show.

16. I use the [sparkling heart] emoji the most.

17. My celebrity crush growing up was Elisha Cuthbert. She's [now] a good friend of mine.
18. Chicken Parmesan is my ideal comfort food.
19. My first car was a maroon Volvo XC90 SUV.
20. One beauty product I can't live without is my new favorite primer, Nivea's Sensitive Post Shave Balm for men. It makes my makeup last longer than I've ever had it last.
21. My favorite Pride memory was sneaking away to attend my first Pride event in Toronto. I'll never forget the feeling of acceptance and community. It was a magical moment.

22. One trend I regret rocking is low heels — never again!

23. My favorite room in my house is my closet and glam station.
24. The proudest moment of my career has been releasing The T Guide. A book like this would have changed my life as a kid. I hope it helps so many readers.
25. When I was younger I looked up to Britney Spears. She is such an icon in the LGBTQ+ community.
